

Welcome to the jungle

Eden is the biggest greenhouse in the world and the most eagerly anticipated construction project of the year. With two weeks to go before it opens, Gus Alexander explored Cornwall's jungle in a bubble. Photographs by Andrew Southall

It looks like a jungle shack, but the hut is actually an air-conditioned chill-out room for explorers overcome by the tropical climate.

